The most beautiful experience we can have is that of the mysterious. Towards the end of his life, the great mathematician and scientist Isaac Newton said of his achievements: "I do not know what I appear to the world, but to myself I appear to have been like a little boy playing on the seashore, and diverting myself in now and then finding a smoother pebble or prettier shell than ordinary, while the great ocean of truth lay all undiscovered before me." Even when we think we understand the mystery of God, we are still only beginning. We are still only children playing on the shore. The mystery grows instead of diminishing with each new discovery. Flor McCarthy in 'New Sunday & Holy day Liturgies'
